

The 18 September session of the CII REACH-OSH Forum was a success!

We are delighted that more than 90 experts from all over Europe joined us for the 18 September CII REACH-OSH Forum.

As a reminder, the aim of this Forum is to provide an informal platform for the European Commission, Member States' experts, trade union and industry representatives and other relevant stakeholders to exchange views and discuss solutions to clarify the REACH-OSH interface.

We would like to particularly thank Mr Linher (DG GROW), Mr Tanase (DG EMPL) and Ms Pürgy from the Austrian Federal Ministry for Climate Action, Environment, Energy, Mobility, Innovation and Technology for their insightful presentations, which were important bases for discussions. We would also like to thank our three moderators, France Capon, Clemens Rosenmayr and Martin Wieske, for efficiently steering these debates.

During this Forum, we covered quite a broad range of topics, including:

- the European Commission's work on the REACH revision since the last CII REACH-OSH Forum
- as part of this revision, the extension of the generic approach to risk management to professional uses – where justified
- the role of the Candidate List
- the latest OSH developments
- ECHA's and RAC's current activities
- Austria's views on the REACH-OSH interface

All the points mentioned above will be further discussed and explored during upcoming Fora. Indeed, as alluded to when concluding this Forum, we really count on the participants to build agendas that effectively contribute to clarifying the REACH-OSH interface.
